

Hearing On Bocce Ball Cover Today

By NANCY STANCILL

A Jefferson Elementary School District trustee's vote against a plan to cover bocce ball courts at Colma Intermediate School has generated a storm of protest in Daly City.

The protest against the vote by Trustee Beverly Forrester not to allow Daly City to install the metal cover is expected to be the main topic of discussion at a special Board of Trustees meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Representatives of two groups, the Hillside Homeowners Improvement Association and the Daly City Senior Citizens Club, have presented petitions containing 419 names to the board.

At an April 12 meeting, several residents asked the board to reconsider the bocce ball decision. The board set Wednesday's special meeting to discuss the matter.

Mrs. Forrester, the only board member to vote against Daly City's plan to cover the facility, said she is surprised by the reaction to her vote. No one has contacted her personally to voice opposition to her stand, she said, although she added that she has heard indirect expressions of discontent.

She explained that certain JESD board votes, relating generally to contract agreements, must be approved unanimously.

Mrs. Forrester said her vote against the court covering project relates to the noise problem at Colma Intermediate and Elementary Schools. The

Weather's All That Stops 'Em

Only rain or extreme windiness keeps them away. Otherwise, every afternoon at least a few of them gather at the tiny corner area of the Colma Intermediate School site.

They are Daly City's bocce ball players, a hard-core cadre of elderly Italian-born men who enjoy nothing better than an afternoon of the little-known sport.

On a recent sunny afternoon, about 15 gathered to form red and green bocce ball teams.

They played on two cement courts that resembled miniature outdoor bowling alleys — one player described the sport as a sort of Italian bowling.

As a plump man in overalls and cap rolled a grapefruit-sized clay ball, his companions cheered. The ball knocked another player's ball out of range of the cue-type object.

There were enthusiastic cries of "bravo" for the red team. The men switched their comments from rapid-fire Italian to English, as the mood suited them.

"I love it," said Amedeo Gonella, a Winchester Street resident. "It's a great sport for the old people. It keeps the mind occupied."

Another Daly City man, Gene Bacilocco, said he goes to the bocce ball courts daily "to have a good time with the boys; to reminisce about the old days."

The dean of the gathering was Olinto Melani of Garibaldi Street. Slight and stooped, 88-year-old Melani said ill health keeps him from playing much, but he still likes to go for the camaraderie.

The two courts at the Colma school site are the only bocce ball facilities in Daly City. The men said some elderly residents of South San Francisco and San Francisco occasionally come to play, too.

Each of the men questioned said he would like a roof over the courts, so the players would not miss some afternoon sessions because of occasional inclement weather.

Most were dimly aware that there was a potential problem in obtaining the roof, though they appeared unclear as to the nature of the problem.

"Someone's against the bocce ball," a player said, shaking his head. "I hope they let the old people play."

'Jack' Must Close Early

In a five-hour meeting that had the stale flavor of a warmed-over meal, Daly City's City Council hashed over noise and litter problems with the Mission Street Jack-in-the-Box before deciding to amend the restaurant's use permit.

At the close of the hearing, the council voted 3-2 to end the restaurant's 24-hour operation by decreasing shorter weekday and weekend hours.

The restaurant will be required by the council's action to close between 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. Sunday through Thursday. Friday and Saturday operations must cease at midnight and may resume at 5 a.m.

Also in the council's amendment of the permit is a clause requiring "an agreeable schedule for picking up litter" and the maintenance of "visible security personnel" on Friday and Saturday nights.

Councilmen Albert Teglia and Anthony Giammona voted against the motion, expressing opinions that weekend hours should end at 11 p.m. rather than at midnight.

"Friday and Saturday is when the residents experience the heaviest impacts from the restaurant," Teglia argued in favor of the 11 p.m. closing.

However, Councilman James Tucker said the council should be aware that its action "is cutting back on a large amount of business," even with a more lenient midnight closing.

The council's vote followed a parade of witnesses from the Price and Garibaldi streets area behind the Jack-in-the-Box. Many of the residents have complained to the council since last fall.

However, each witness was questioned painstakingly by City Attorney Albert Polonsky and by George Corey, an attorney representing Foodmaker, Inc., operator of the fast-food restaurant.

With a court reporter recording the lengthy proceedings and more than 100 persons packing the council chambers, the witnesses

We've Moved

We moved to a new location last week — 1331 San Mateo Ave., South San Francisco, northeast of the San Bruno city limits.

The relocation has resulted in the change of departmental telephone numbers, but not in the Post Office box. Mail will continue to be delivered to Post Office Box 248, San Bruno 94066.

New telephone numbers include: Circulation: Post 952-1295.

News: 952-4105. Display advertising: 952-4114.

Want Ads: 952-4111. All other departments: 952-4102.

The former number of all departments, 589-1234, has been disconnected.

Relocated offices continue to serve as North County bureaus for the San Mateo Times, the Amphlett Printing Co. afternoon daily newspaper.

North County newspapers involved in Thursday's move into larger quarters of offices and production plant are the San Bruno Herald, the Recorder-Progress, Daly City Herald, Coastside Chronicle and the North County Post.

Notice

Messages concerning distribution or delivery of the North County Post should be telephoned between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. (952-1295) or sent in writing to the North County Post, P.O. Box 248, San Bruno, CA 94066.

Teachers To Strike in September If No Pact

More than 200 Jefferson Union High School District teachers voted Monday to strike in September, if there is no settlement between Local 1481 of the American Federation of Teachers and the district before then.

Only 14 teachers voted against the AFT bargaining team's recommendation of "no contract, no work in September," according to AFT official Jackie Yokote.

The AFT and the district have been deadlocked over the issues of wages, binding arbitration and co-curricular pay for teachers for some time.

The union and the Daly City-Pacific West San Bruno district have dispatched the contract items to fact-finding procedures after several weeks of mediation and a recent five-day "wait-in" by four union leaders at the district offices.

"Today is the test for teachers," AFT president Marcy Ballard declared at the Monday meeting. "Your bargaining team has been tested," she added, referring to the "wait-in."

After Monday's teachers' meeting, the AFT leaders took the '93 percent strike in September' vote to the San Mateo Labor Council, from which the union received strike sanction.

District representatives argued before the council that a strike sanction should not precede fact-finding.

AFT representatives told the council, however, that the district is not bound to accept the fact-finding without binding arbitration.

The strike sanction, an expression of labor support, can apply to a strike at any time, AFT leaders said.

Mother Arrested In Child Desertion

A mother who allegedly abandoned her 18-month-old baby boy in a Mary's Help Hospital waiting room Saturday was arrested by Daly City police at 5 p.m. Monday and booked at Daly City jail on suspicion of child desertion.

According to police, a man brought the child into the waiting room and asked a security guard to watch the boy for a short time. He then left, driving away in a green Chevrolet Camaro or Pontiac Firebird, with a woman believed to be the mother in the car with him, police said they were told.

The security guard turned the boy over to police at 10:30 p.m. The youngster was sent on to a foster home, officers reported.

Police said they began to piece the case together when the mother, Renita Thomas, 21, of Daly City, called the police station at 3 a.m. Monday to inquire about the child's whereabouts.

A day of investigation by Juvenile Officer Dennis Pinnatorre resulted in the woman's arrest at 5 p.m. Monday.

Police said today that no motive had been established for the alleged abandonment.

Officers said today they are seeking the man for questioning in the case.

The youngster was checked at Mary's Help and found to be healthy. He was dressed neatly and didn't appear to have been abused, police said.

two schools are located side-by-side on an East Market Street site at Hillside Boulevard.

She contended that the City of Daly City has lacked "a spirit of cooperativeness" in settling the noise problem, which started a few years ago with the widening of East Market Street and Hillside Boulevard.

As a result of that project and the impact of traffic noise on the school site, the JESD one year ago filed a $350,000 suit against the city of Daly City.

The case is expected to be heard in San Mateo County Superior Court within the next few months, the trustees noted.

The city, according to officials, will argue that when the widening project was done, the road was turned over to the county for the duration of the project.

Mrs. Forrester, however, contends that the noise is an ongoing problem that is requiring the district to spend about $300,000 on noise abatement measures. She noted that the county has contributed $90,000 toward resolution of the noise problem.

Mrs. Forrester concedes that the noise problem at the school site and the covering of the bocce ball courts there are two separate matters.

"While bocce ball and the noise problem are not related, there's something deeper here than bocce ball and noise," she maintained. "A spirit of cooperativeness works two ways."

She added that any time the city has asked the school district for a "right of way or annexation, we've given it to them."

In turn, Mrs. Forrester charges that in several instances, both in large and minor matters, the city has not satisfied the school district when JESD has requested help.

She mentioned, as an example, that the city has not adequately controlled problems associated with ice cream vendors at Roosevelt School.

The trustee also noted that the number of meetings between the city and the district relating to bocce ball improvements have not been characteristic of dealings about other problems.

"I'm not opposed to recreation for senior citizens," she said of bocce ball.

However, she questioned whether the two courts should have been located on school grounds in the first place, since they are used only by senior citizens.

If the school district does not get a unanimous vote at its Wednesday meeting, City Manager David Rowe said the city will consider moving the bocce ball facilities to Hillside Park.

Jack

described the types of nuisances they said they have faced.

K.W. Keville of First Avenue said he's heard "a tremendous amount of noise from automobile and motorcycle engines and a high amount of loud talking."

Katherine Pollard of Price Street said that each night she is awakened by "honking of horns and car radios. It's hard to get back to sleep."

Tony Flores, former Jack-in-the-Box manager who was fired in January, said he had informed Foodmaker, Inc., management of "all communications" with Daly City.

However, Stella Thompson, district coordinator for Foodmaker, maintained that the former manager had been terminated because of insufficient responsiveness.

Representatives of the corporation offered to construct a buffer wall, maintain strict security and close off the restaurant's Price Street exit if necessary if the restaurant could keep its 24-hour operation.

They claimed that shortening the hours might require a layoff of 12 to 14 persons, some of them high school students.

The company's officials were supported by Clara Haynes, Bennie Jurand and Dr. Eddie Welton, all of the Daly City Community and Educational Service Center, who said the restaurant has provided five jobs for youths in the city-sponsored job program.

Jurand pointed out that if there were more 24-hour restaurants in Daly City, the noise problem would be lessened.

Jack-in-the-Box officials said the restaurant plans seating expansion to accommodate 72 rather than 20 persons, a measure that is expected to ease noise problems outside.

The council read letters from the Mission Merchants, Redevelopment Agency's Project Area Committee and The Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, urging it not to tamper with the use permit.

LAFCO Continues DC Annexation

San Mateo County's Local Agency Formation Commission this week approved a 60-day continuance of an application sponsored by Daly City to annex a service station located in unincorporated Colma.

The application, which would detach the business operated by Don Bevilacqua at San Pedro Road and Junipero Serra Boulevard from the Broadmoor Police Protection District, has spurred some controversy.

After Bevilacqua requested that the Daly City Council sponsor the application, district representatives of the Mobil Oil Corp. asked withdrawal of the application.

A Broadmoor Police Commission letter expressing opposition to the proposed detachment apparently caused the corporate officials to change their mind, Bevilacqua said.

Bevilacqua asked Daly City officials to seek a continuance to give him a chance to talk to corporate officials about the matter.

At Wednesday's LAFCO meeting, Broadmoor Police Commissioners Wayne Johnson and Randy Wall told the commission they opposed the proposed annexation, which would cause the district to lose tax revenues. The net assessed valuation on the property is listed at $2,035.

City Manager David Rowe of Daly City asked the commission to approve the continuance to allow the operator to confer with corporate officials.

Rowe also noted that a 60-day continuance would allow the application to be heard after the June 6 vote on the Jarvis-Gann tax initiative, Proposition 13.

The city manager said the outcome of the referendum "may affect the ability of one or more agencies" to finance police protection.

The district, as well as Daly City, is expected to lose considerable tax revenues if the tax limitation initiative is approved by the voters.

The hearing on the application was scheduled for June 21.

Meals for Needy

The San Bruno Park School District is in the process of determining how tough it can get in enforcing its Meals for Needy Children program.

At the Board of Trustees' April 17 meeting, Chairman Chris Pallas had called the program "another abuse of taxpayers' money."

Business manager Sherill Houghton told the trustees Monday night that Maria Worthing, food services supervisor, is "trying to get from Sacramento guidelines as to how far we can check these forms legally."

Houghton referred to the forms filled out by parents requesting their children get free or reduced-price meals. The district now has no legal way of checking the validity of these forms.

For the past six months, 43,435 free meals were served in the district.

SCHOOL WAREHOUSE SALE

The Jefferson Elementary School District's second sale of surplus furniture, equipment and other items will be late this week. The sale will be conducted by the Jefferson Council of PTAs at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School on Stewart Street in the unincorporated Colma area Friday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. School desks, many of which are pictured, will sell for as low as $1.50 each, according to JCTA leaders, Arlene Pleich, left, and Nancy Thomas.

Coroner Probes Death

A 28-year-old Pacifica woman who reportedly had been consuming a variety of drugs died Monday despite efforts to save her. She succumbed apparently just before 3:45 p.m. as three friends were rushing her to the Pacifica Central Fire Station for help, authorities reported today.

The victim was identified by the coroner's office as Benet Santos, 132 Shoreview Court. She was residing with her father, Juan, who is on a business trip to Guam.

Firemen said they attempted resuscitation on the woman.

Miss Santos was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital, where medical personnel also tried resuscitation of various kinds, but to no avail. The body was turned over to the coroner's office for autopsy.

The friends, two men and a woman, accompanied the deceased woman to Mary's Help but later drifted away without being identified.

DMV Office Hours Reminder

After four months of experimenting, big crowds are still lining up at the three Department of Motor Vehicle offices in San Mateo County during morning hours.

A spokesman said today that despite widespread publicity, customers haven't learned the new hours in the San Mateo, Redwood City and Daly City offices. These are among 20 offices in the state with staggered hours.

The San Mateo and Redwood City offices observe regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours Monday, Tuesday and Friday. They are open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday. The Daly City office is closed Monday but is open Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County, with offices in Burlingame, Daly City and Redwood City.

The local phone number for area residents is 992-0957, an answering service. Residents also may contact the main office in Burlingame at 342-0801 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Neighborhood Family Project — Volunteer needed who can translate into sign language. Days or evenings.

Suicide Prevention and Crisis Center — The next training session for volunteers interested in staffing the 24-hour crisis line will begin June 3 and continue for the following four Saturdays. Interviews are required prior to the training.

Friends to Parents — Volunteers are needed to work on a one-to-one basis with young parents helping them to assume control of their own lives. A training session for interested volunteers will begin May 16 in the evening.

Travelers Aid — Volunteers are needed to staff the desk at International Airport to provide information and assistance to travelers in need. Interested volunteers are invited to attend the first of six orientation sessions May 9 from 10 a.m. to noon.

Department of Social Service — A tutor is needed for a young boy who needs assistance in all his subjects. Special ope time request for a driver to bring a North County lady to Sacramento and return.

Additional information about these and other volunteer opportunities may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau at the numbers listed or by dropping by the main office in Burlingame, 119 Primrose Road. Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded in part by the County of San Mateo.

Hodge Heads Mayors

Brisbane Mayor Jeanine D. Hodge was unanimously elected the new chairman of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors at the council's monthly meeting Friday night in Portola Valley.

She succeeds Redwood City Councilwoman and former Mayor Marguerite Leipzig, the first time in the history of the organization that women have served as chairman two years in a row. Portola Valley Vice Mayor James W. Whitson was unanimously elected vice chairman of the group.

At Friday night's meeting, council members engaged in a lively debate on Proposition 13, the Jarvis-Gann Initiative. The proposition, to be decided on by California voters on June 6, seeks to place a ceiling on the amount of property tax that can be collected.

Opponents of the measure concentrated their arguments on the cutbacks to local services that would be required if it passes.

Proponents of the measure stated that there are more than enough other sources of revenue to make up the loss in property taxes and that non-property related services should be paid for from other than property taxes.

Imagination, Work Go Into Hexagon House

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Tony and Pam Tavernese of Pacifica never get that boxed-in feeling. They live in a house with rooms that have six, seven and eight corners, rather than four.

Perched atop a green bluff overlooking the ocean, their house is the product of imagination and hard work. It is composed of four hexagon-shaped units, trimmed in redwood and topped with tile. The Taverneses did all the construction themselves.

"We got out our shovels and leveled the land, then we put the foundation in," explained Pam.

That was only the beginning. They had to figure out how to make square boards fit triangular corners, attach roofing on pie-shaped edges and lay a floor in a room with 60-degree angles.

Tony's father, a carpenter, taught them the techniques. A city planner told them, step-by-step, how to comply with building codes. Friends arrived on weekends to help with hammering and painting.

A year before they began construction, the Taverneses began storing such items as commodes and sheetrock in their garage. They lived just down the street from the house site. Tony started building cabinets and also stored them in the garage.

"We knew we couldn't afford all these expenses at the same time," Pam noted.

Five-and-a-half months after they broke ground, the Taverneses moved into the house of their dreams. They're still adding some finishing touches.

By doing all the work themselves, they saved thousands of dollars. The entire house and most of its furnishings cost them only $60,000. It sits on a third of a 1½-acre lot that they bought for $18,000. They figure the house would sell for $150,000 at today's real estate prices.

"We could have spent less on the place, but we got carried away picking the best appliances and other things," Tony said.

The kitchen has a Jenn-Air stove with an inside suction vent, a Corning top, barbecue grills and digital clock built in. Hidden in the side of the kitchen "island" is a microwave oven. Colored light streams through a stained glass window.

Nearby is a dumbwaiter. When completed, it will spirit items up to the wet bar in the family room above.

The bedroom features a bigger-than-kingsize waterbed and a sunken tub tiled in silver and gold. It also has an antique barber chair which Pam has reupholstered in a wild paisley print.

The second bedroom, which belongs to her daughter Jill, has a smaller waterbed and a brightly-painted castle of clay that actually is a lamp.

Pam made the lamp too. "After a while, you get used to doing things with little money," she marked.

The crowning glory is the huge, eight-sided den on the second floor that has plush couches, a stereo, a TV and soon will have a bar. Through the glass stretching along two sides, you can see a verdant valley, and you have a 180-degree view of the ocean. Light filters down from a cupola in the ceiling.

The Taverneses didn't think they would save much money in cloudy Pacifica by installing solar heating panels, but they believed in the principle. Lance Sherwood, who has a heating and plumbing business in Pacifica installed the panels. He said there are only two other solar-heated homes in Pacifica — one of which is his.

The Taverneses were surprised when the two panels reduced their utility bill from $100 to $45. "And we can write off 55 percent of the cost on our state taxes," Tony said.

He and his wife do not recommend the builder who sold them specially-cut timbers for their hexagon house. If they were to build the house over again, Tony and Pam said, they would order all the lumber themselves to avoid delays.

When they finished the major work in December, they vowed they'd never build anything again.

"It was incredible work. You can't imagine what we had to go through!" exclaimed Pam.

Tony chuckled as he remembered her frustration. "She said, 'Never again.' Now she's got plans for more buildings on our property," he remarked.

'NEVER AGAIN'... YET, WELL, HMMMM, MAYBE
Four units trimmed in redwood and tile-topped make up house.

NEXT TO NATURE—THE MAIN ATTRACTION IN THE UPSTAIRS DEN
A wall of glass looks out into a lush, green valley and the blue waters of the Pacific.

John Curry Prop. 13 and SamTrans

It's becoming apparent that the Jarvis-Gann Initiative, Proposition 13 on the June 6 Primary election ballot, is the hottest thing to come down the initiative trail since the emotion-charged Proposition 13 of 1964, when the Rumford Fair Housing Act repeal was put up for a vote.

The tempo of the mail coming across the news desk is picking up, arguments are becoming more strident and more and more organizations are taking positions, including many which normally wouldn't get involved in political issues.

JARVIS-GANN would affect almost all governmental agencies in one way or another, including some that wouldn't appear to be. One such is the San Mateo County Transit District. Some 20 per cent or so of the district's revenues now come from the farebox on its 150 buses and the rest is planned over the foreseeable future from established federal and state public transit funding programs.

So what could be the problem if the district doesn't collect property tax? It could be the only local agency in the county that wouldn't have to retrench if Jarvis-Gann passed and anything from 40 to 60 per cent of city, county, school district or special district revenues went bye-bye.

THERE'S HOPE for that, but also danger. Some $6.7 million, or roughly half the current SamTrans budget for the year, comes from state Transportation Development Act funds, paid largely through a 1/4-cent state sales tax allocation.

If Proposition 13 succeeds and the state's cities, counties and districts lean on Sacramento for make-up funding, the temptation among the politicians there could be to dig into the TDA money. Sen. James Mills (D-San Diego) already tried once last year to divert some cash into a low-cost housing program. County Supervisor William H. Rover, a SamTrans Board of Directors member, says he doesn't think raids on TDA funds will happen, but admitted they're a likely target.

THE SAMTRANS management always has kept on top of late legislative matters affecting it and if Jarvis-Gann becomes law, may have an overwhelming job of watchdogging to do. A desperate city faced with a choice of cuts in police and fire forces and a reduction in bus service probably wouldn't consider that a hard choice to make and would lobby accordingly.

But SamTrans still isn't facing the same hazards as some transit agencies, like AC Transit in the East Bay, or BART, which also collect property taxes in the Bay Area counties they serve (except that BART's levy doesn't apply to San Mateo County).

A major difficulty in selling public transit to the public is that it costs money, in large bundles. BART's cost overruns, in the billions, have been well-publicized, as have the operating budgets of SamTrans, which can't and won't begin to meet expenses from farebox revenues.

AND COSTS keep going up. One recent staff report to the board of SamTrans sounds like a boondoggle unless you read it closely.

Over two years ago the district estimated about $200,000 as the cost for new automatic bus washers, with most of the money to come from a federal Urban Mass Transit grant. With all its other expansion and new bus purchases to take of first, the district didn't get around to calling for bids from eight firms until Feb. 28, 1978.

Two bids came in, the lowest at $446,985. The staff pointed out that besides the inflation factor, the district changed its specifications to include water-recirculating systems to save water, and the washers now have to be larger to accommodate the new larger buses the district began using last year.

'WE GOT CARRIED AWAY...'
Pam and Tony Tavernese say they decided to get the best.

T. S. WEST

But Americans offer little, if any, assistance to persons who are terminally ill. In the words of Sandol Stoddard, "Death is un-American. It denies our power to conquer the globe with our Yankee know-how." So we close our eyes to death and leave the dying to waste away in hospitals or at home where they are not cared for adequately.

THIS TERRIBLE condition has led to the rebirth of the hospice movement, wherein institutions re provided to care for the terminally ill and to provide them with "every advantage of modern medicine, psychology and clinical pharmacology."

Writing in her book "The Hospice Movement, A Better Way of Caring for the Dying" (Stein and Day $8.95), Sandol Stoddard described the modern hospice as "a place of meeting, a way station, a place of transit, of arrival and departure. People in hospices are not attached to machines, nor are they manipulated by pipes or tubes, or by the administration of drugs that cloud the mind without relieving pain."

"Instead," Ms. Stoddard continues, "they are given comfort by methods sometimes rather sophisticated but often amazingly simple and obvious; and they are helped to live fully in an atmosphere of loving kindness and grace until the time has come for them to die a natural death."

WHILE European hospices have existed in one form or another since the Middle Ages, they are the product of a new movement in America. Hospice teams are forming in most parts of the country with some notable results. By April 1977, twenty-two teams were organizing or were at work in California. Writing of these and others throughout the United States, Elizabeth Kubler-Ross said, "The hospice movement is the finest organization for change in this country today."

In her book, Sandol Stoddard treats the history of the hospice movement in a style that is easy to follow. Her descriptions of noted hospices in London, Conn. and elsewhere inspire readers to join the movement.

BECAUSE of the Stoddard book, readers are becoming convinced the hospice movement is an idea whose time has come.

In the words of Trevor A. Hoy of the Berkeley Center for Human Interaction, "Warning — this book will be hazardous to the cynicism which predicts our Western Culture will become increasingly dehumanized. It is a powerfully confronting, sensitively-documented pilgrimage through death to life, offering an extraordinary model of how personal and professional commitment can bring about creative change in seemingly vast and impersonal systems."

THE DISTRICT is asking UMTA if it will send more money — $197,000 more — as its share. The district had better grab this bid, it was decided, or run the risk of higher bids if it tried again.

The SamTrans board also pledged three years ago, when it first became operational, that it wouldn't enact a county-wide sales tax for five years. Reserves are budgeted as matching funds for new buses and are projected to be sufficient through 1981.

AND NOW for the good stuff from the daily mail mountain en route to the wastebasket:

Late in the pro basketball season, BART public relations manager Mike Healy put out a release saying BART would provide a direct no-transfer train from the Oakland Coliseum to Daly City after the Warriors-Buffalo Bills game. The NFL Bills management probably would have been as surprised as the NBA Braves had the football players shown up moonlighting in their off-season.

RAILROAD NUTS, other than commuters, may like to know that ground was broken last week in Sacramento for the Railroad History Building, the main structure of the new California State Railroad Museum. The museum, in Old Sacramento, is to be completed in the early 1980s and will feature railroading this state in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

SOONER or later it had to happen. The state has run out of six-figure license plate combinations and has gone to seven. Most of the publicity so far has extolled the possibilities of seven-character words on personalized license plates, which go for $25 a pop to finance environmental programs.

We've all laughed a six-figure personalized plates for the past several years. Now the jokesters have a whole new slate. Who will be the first with PUNSTER? The new plates will be available as of July 1, but you can apply now. There'll be a drawing in June to resolve duplications in personalized letter and number combinations.

THE END: Thousands jammed into the highly successful New Earth Exposition at Brooks Hall and Civic Auditorium in San Francisco in mid-April. It was interesting and much of it quite esoteric, but it showed one thing — environmentalism has evolved from people-oriented movement to Big Business. The $5 T-shirts with swinging slogans emblazoned on them, $1,000 furnishings and coat-and-tie salesmen pushing the latest in solar and other energy-saving devices told the story.

POLICE COMMENDATIONS

Daly City Police Officers Thomas E. Kahle, right in top photo, and Donald M. Cubic, right in bottom photo, were given certificates of commendation recently by Assistant Police Chief Richard C. Sims, left in both photos, for helping save the life of a heart attack victim. The officers were on duty at a Cow Palace event March 11 when a 68-year-old woman suffered a heart attack. Kahle and Cubic administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation for several minutes until Fire Department and Medevac teams arrived. "I have been advised that had it not been for your efforts in this particular case the victim would not be alive today," Police Chief David A. Hansen, said in the commendations.

Colma Tapes Shows

A videotape made by students at Colma Intermediate School will be used in the next few weeks for sixth-grade orientation to the school. The videotape was created by students in the media production class taught by Ms. Linda Olsen, media specialist with the Teacher Corps program.

The students worked cooperatively to write a script which incorporated a "Star Wars" theme. They designed and built a robot which then was introduced to the school by a student actor while others in the class videotape recorded the sound and action.

The videotape can be played back on a regular television in classrooms for incoming sixth graders to get a better idea of Colma Intermediate School, its procedures and its classes. In addition the videotape will be submitted to the State Media Festival sponsored by the California Media and Library Educators' Association.

This production was the culminating activity after students had been trained in the operation of videotape equipment. Camera techniques are similar to those in filmmaking. However, other technical details in handling the videotape recorder require students to be consciously careful of their actions.

At least 50 students at the school have been trained in the operation of this equipment and all have been outstanding in their performance, Ms. Olsen said.

Videotape equipment was purchased for the school by the federally funded Teacher Corps program. It has been used extensively during the past two years for a wide variety of education purposes.

The Teacher Corps program is a project shared jointly by San Francisco State University and the Jefferson School District. Although this cycle of Teacher Corps will be complete in June, an application for a five-year cycle has been submitted to Washington, D.C., for approval.

On April 20, Geoffrey Hanson, an escape artist who has performed all of the great Houdini's tricks, brought his TV and night club show to Serramonte High School.

He started with the basic ring trick and moved on to more difficult ones. One of his more difficult tricks was being tied to a chair with a 50-foot rope. He used two students as assistants, Kevin Covington and Mike Espinosa, to tie him up tight. Hanson escaped with little difficulty, except for so many distractions that he asked someone to light a match, on which he could concentrate. With that deep concentration, he escaped.

DURING the past 15 years he has been buried alive and escaped from a grave, nailed into boxes and lodged in safes, vaults, coffins, trunks and prison security cells. He has released himself from regulation handcuffs of police detectives, state officials and federal agents, including the FBI and England's Scotland Yard.

On May 10 at noon at Aquatic Park, Hanson will be

The sophomore class will put on a fashion show for everyone May 11 in the Little Theater. Anyone who would like to see the show can purchase their ticket from members of the class.

THE FRESHMAN class will be sponsoring an amateur night May 23. Trophies will be given to the first, second and third place winners.

The Junior-Senior Prom was a great success April 22 in the Colonial Room of the St. Francis Hotel.

As each couple entered the Prom, the girl received bids and the guy received a wine glass, printed with the Prom theme, date and school. The Prom featured the band "Sass."

Prom-goers also received a compliment by the convention next door at the St. Francis, that Jefferson was the best-behaved prom group they had ever seen.

Equally as nice, the photographer at the Prom also said that we were a good group.

The Prom ended at about 1:20 after the band played two request numbers.

THE BOOSTER CLUB sponsored a skate night April 21 at the Grand Arena Roller skating rink in South San Francisco. The turnout was great and the night was a success.

The Senior Rowdy Club met during the last activities period. During the meeting, prom picture information was passed around, the carnival was discussed, a trip to Great America was suggested and the picnic was discussed, to name a few things.

Pacifica Pays to Find Ways to Save Money — and It's Working

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Kym Rhodes has a reputation for being nosy. Delving into other people's business is part of her job as budget and research officer for Pacifica.

Ms. Rhodes, 22, reports to City Manager Donald Weidner, who suggested that the City Council create her position so that someone would have time to study the best use of city funds.

Weidner said there are probably only two or three other persons in California employed by cities exclusively to research the use of funds. One is in Glendale, a city of 140,000, where Weidner used to work.

Since Jan. 9, when she began the job, Ms. Rhodes has been searching for ways to cut costs and improve the efficiency of municipal operations.

She was hired right after graduation from the University of Florida last December at an annual salary of $17,952. She is drawing on her experience as an administrative intern last summer for the City of San Anselmo.

Ms. Rhodes said most city employees are receptive to her ideas for reducing costs.

"I think the people who work here are open-minded and flexible. They just never had the time to look into some of these things themselves," she remarked.

The project taking most of her time now is the budget. Part of her job is to study the budget line by line to ascertain whether new items departments request are justified.

For example, when the Community Development and Services Department asked for a new tool box on a maintenance truck, she went over to see how badly one was needed. She decided a new tool box was warranted, but couldn't justify a request for a deluxe street paving machine.

"We don't do enough street paving," she explained. Another part of her job is to determine whether Pacifica could save money by changing its traditional methods of operation.

After she studied the city's phone system, she discovered that the phone company had been overbidding the city for some items, but also underbidding for others. For instance, the phone company had neglected to charge for calls relayed by the switchboard operator to the Linda Mar fire station. However, it was billing the city for two phones in an office that had only one.

Her telephone investigation netted the city $295.81. Pacifica will save $4,000 per year if the council follows her suggestions of removing some intercoms and buzzers and changing from the touch tone dial system back to the rotary dial method.

She also recommends that the city remove one phone in a room never used at the sewage treatment plant, noting, "You can't even hear it ring."

In a study of city personnel, Ms. Rhodes saved the city more money by discovering that one employee wasn't doing a job nearly as quickly as a previous city worker had done it. She declined to mention in which department the employee works, but said the problem is "being corrected."

Few city employees know the city rents throw rugs for City Hall.

Ms. Rhodes found that Pacifica would save $500 per year by purchasing the rugs instead of renting them.

She studied the city's contractual agreement for custodial help and learned that Pacifica is having the work done as inexpensively as possible. The city would pay about $17,000 more each year if it hired its own custodians.

Ms. Rhodes has set up some experiments to determine other ways Pacifica can save money. Four local police cars are equipped with four different kinds of tires to see which brand will last longest.

She helped develop a method of tracking the costs associated with each city vehicle — "That way, if a vehicle is coming in repeatedly for repairs, we'll know."

In addition, she worked with the city manager's secretary, Betty Nichols, to cross-index all of the city's contracts by date signed, date of expiration and name of the company with which the contract is held.

Projects on the horizon include:

- Studying insurance costs and whether it would be beneficial for Pacifica to be self-insured for liability.

- Developing ways that department heads can measure job performance on weekly, monthly and quarterly reports. Weekly forms currently list only the number of hours worked.

"We know how many hours a street sweeper sweeps, but we don't know how many streets he swept," she explained.

- Designating an "Operation Drop" day on which all city employees would clean out their dead files.

- Studying whether the police department will save money by hiring a part-time stenographer to take down police reports orally.

- Determining whether the city should contract out its street painting.

- Deciding if it would be less expensive to give the city's three police captains a monthly transportation allowance, rather than having the city provide them with staff cars.

Streamlining purchasing procedures so that time isn't wasted.

Before Ms. Rhodes arrived, maintenance workers had to drive clear across town to charge items at the only hardware store with which the city has an account.

Ms. Rhodes spent some time investigating grants that Pacifica might receive; however, she found that most federal and state awards are given to cities with more residents than Pacifica and that others are loans.

She has stopped work on that project and others until after June 6, when voters will decide the fate of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative, Prop. 13, to lower property taxes.

"So many things depend on that," she remarked.

Ms. Rhodes said Pacifica is dependent on revenue from property taxes, more so than nearly every other city in San Mateo County. If the proposition passes, she said, Pacifica will not have enough money to continue running the police and fire departments at their current level — even if all other city departments are wiped out.

As it is, she said, Pacifica has the lowest ratio of city workers to residents of any city in the county. Pacifica has 4.2 city employees for every 1,000 citizens, compared to 8.8 city workers per 1,000 residents in both San Carlos and Burlingame. Daly City has 5.2 city workers and San Bruno has five city employees per 1,000 citizens.

If Prop. 13 passes, cities are warning employee counts will be pared much further.

That puts Ms. Rhodes in the uncomfortable position of assuming that her own job of cutting costs may fall victim to a more drastic cost-cutting movement.

Meanwhile, she continues to search for ways to make the present city government operate more efficiently and less expensively.

Pack 276 Creates 'Owl Den'

Cub Scout Pack 276 of Daly City introduced a new Den in their Pack recently, called the Owl Den, that was put together for all the little brothers and sisters of the Cubs from age three to six years.

The Owl Den Leaders, Michelle Navarra and Chris Navarra; and little Owl Scouts Jennifer Regodon, Heather Bollier, Tracie Sweetman, Annissa Frey and David Vickers, were presented with their Owl T-shirts and Owl neckerchiefs and their very own Owl Flag on stage during a very formal Owl Den Induction Ceremony.

Cubmaster Collins Orton then called the Cubs on stage to receive their earned badges and awards. Kevin Regodon, Jr. of Den 2 received his Wolf Badge and Gold Arrow. James Vickers of Den 2 received his Wolf Badge and Gold Arrow. Darren Berge of Den 2 won his Silver Arrow. Micheal Bollier of Den 2 got his Wolf Badge and Gold Arrow.

Marc Ormando of Den 6 received his Art and Athlete pins. Jason Duncan of Den 6 received two Silver Arrows. Edwin Paras and Troy Sweetman of Den 6 received one Silver Arrow. Paul Perroni received his art and athlete pins.

Dennis Dos Santos of Den 1 received his Art and Craftsman Pins. Marc Valles received his Athlete and Engineer Pins. Jim Kerley received two Silver Arrows.

SSF Votes to Keep Trees

A recommendation for a $2 million Colma Creek Enhancement Plan that would preserve the trees in Orange Park, including many mature cypress and eucalyptus, has been approved by the South San Francisco Planning Commission and sent to the City Council.

The commissioners voted 4-0 for the plan, and thus rejected an alternate idea that would have seen 31 trees removed in the park. The alternate plan would have cost $275,000 less, but the commission decided after an hour of discussion it was worth it to keep the trees.

The enhancement plan, to be phased in, would include both sides of Colma Creek from Spruce Avenue to the Colma town limits. The city now is planning for the Spruce-to-West-Orange-Avenue section for implementation this year.

The proposal for the portion of Colma Creek from Spruce Avenue to Orange Park includes a landscaped area behind the Mayfair Village subdivision, with a walking and bicycle path, and in the immediate creek area, a landscape strip, service road and sloped landscaped bank.

10 Firms Seek to Audit Daly City's Finances

Ten accounting firms have submitted proposals for the City of Daly City's audit contract, but the firm which has audited the city's finances for 14 years is not among them.

Richard T. Dwyer, president of the Richard T. Dwyer Co. of Daly City, has notified the city that he will not seek the contract.

In addition to the work for the city, Dwyer for more than 20 years has served as accountant for the Daly City Scavenger Co. Foes of the scavenger company have criticized the city's use of the accounting firm for years, charging that the arrangement could lead to conflicts of interest.

The City Council responded to the criticism a few months ago when it decided to seek competitive proposals, rather than continue to hire the auditing firm without looking elsewhere.

Dwyer alluded to the criticism in his recent letter to city officials, turning down the chance to submit a proposal on the audit.

At this particular time, I think it best that my firm does not submit a proposal," he said. "The reasons I have come to this decision are apparent without dissertation."

Dwyer went on to add that his firm will be available for projects other than the annual audit.

"Maybe it is good that a change be made... but if for any reason you become dissatisfied with the firm you engage to do the audit for this fiscal year, we will be pleased to submit a proposal at some time in the future."

The Dwyer firm was paid $16,414 for the 1977 city audit that was completed a few months ago.

City Manager David Rowe said he is "very pleased" that 10 accounting firms have sent proposals to the city.

He said a recently appointed committee, consisting of Councilmen Victor Kyriakis and James Tucker and Assistant to the City Manager Ron Mitchell, will interview the firms and evaluate the proposals.

Rowe said the auditor probably will be selected in June to begin work before the fiscal year ends. He said the work is expected to be completed by October.

The city manager declined to specify the range of prices the firms have offered for the work. He said the companies will be judged on price, experience, depth of audit review and methods of audit program.

Rowe said that among the entities which have submitted proposals, the proposal from the controller of the State of California is the most surprising.

"This is the first time the state has sought this kind of work with a city, to my knowledge," Rowe said.

Rowe said the city wrote a letter to the state at the urging of resident George Kirchhubel, who told the City Council several times that the state should do the audit.

Firms which have submitted proposals include Arthur Anderson and Co., Arthur Young and Co., Ernst and Ernst, Hurdman and Cranston, Laventhol and Horvath, Peat Marwick and Mitchell, Price Waterhouse and Co., Touche Ross and Co., all of San Francisco, and Pearson, Del Prete and Co. of Redwood City.

PARCA Director

The new executive director for the Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults (PARCA) is Shirley Bishop, according to Nancy G. Bates, PARCA president.

Before her local appointment, Ms. Bishop was the director of development of the Arthritis Foundation. She succeeds Patricia Hartnett, who was executive director for nearly three years.

PARCA is a non-profit agency which serves as advocate for the mentally retarded in San Mateo County. The organization is well known for its many activities on behalf of the retarded.

Study to Find Quake Liability

Wednesday, May 3, 1978 THE POST ***

Louanne Heath

By JANET PARKER
A $125,000 study to find out if current liability laws are discouraging local governments from identifying and eliminating earthquake hazards has been undertaken by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The thorny question, according to ABAG project director Terry Margerum, is: "How legally obligated are cities and counties for reducing or not reducing known earthquake hazards?"

"There's some suspicion that the laws may be having an adverse incentive," Margerum said. "The more they do — the more they try to find out — the more liable they become, it seems."

There are fears, he said, that it's gotten to the point it's better for local government officials to bury their heads in the sand and forget about the potential earthquake threat.

However, Margerum noted that San Mateo County has one of the best seismic safety elements in the state.

"It also has fewer problems than some of the older jurisdictions," he said. Since most San Mateo County buildings were developed much later than those in San Francisco, chances are buildings here will be safer, he said.

Nevertheless, there's a distinct need to clarify local government responsibility at a time when liability laws are becoming more and more confused, Margerum declared.

The study is being funded by the National Science Foundation and is expected to be completed in December.

A review committee consisting of legal and geological authorities from throughout the West Coast has been assembled to guide the ABAG report.

The final report, Margerum said, will probably be distributed far beyond the nine-county region since it is a little-explored predicament.

There have been many court cases in the past 10 years that have emphasized the growing trend toward government liability for a whole gamut of legal problems, the ABAG staff member declared.

The old concept of sovereign immunity, in which governmental jurisdictions were protected from litigation in certain circumstances, has been "seriously eroded," he added.

The laws, he said, should encourage cities and counties to protect their residents from injury. Instead, he said, it appears the cities are being discouraged.

For example, a county structural engineer may inspect a hospital built in 1942 and determine it cannot withstand even a minor earthquake. If the building were located in San Mateo County, it also might be dangerously near the San Andreas fault line, Margerum said.

If the county government didn't do anything or was unable to do anything to bolster the hospital's stability and a major earthquake were to occur, there would quite likely be a suit against the local government, he explained.

That's why, he said, some government officials might find it better not to study the problem at all.

The ABAG staff and the committee will study the potential earthquake problems of close to 100 cities in the Western U.S.

"The thrust of the study is to find out what the laws imply and how liable government should be," Margerum said.

Thursday is opening day of the annual funfest and salute to spring sponsored by the members of the Our Lady of Mercy parish in Daly City.

"Victorian Scene" is the theme selected for this year's four-day celebration being chaired by Rick Rickert and Mrs. Robert Brizuela with the able assistance of Mrs. Eileen Barsi, Mrs. Carolyn Machi, Mrs. Rita Quinn, Mrs. Jean Bambrini, Mrs. Colleen Garvey, Mrs. Sandy Covell, Mrs. Maria Zalts, Michael Cooney, Chuck Vanocini, Noel Bragg, Ed LeBlanc, Frank Lawson, Dino Dinati, Chuck Boerio, Jerry Pult, Robert Gelini, Frank Byrne and Rubin Fuhrman.

The Saturday feature will be chicken dinner provided by Joe's of Westlake. Tickets are available from Mr. and Mrs. Richard Galiani.

Mrs. Richard Mudge, Mrs. John Willden and William Miller are handling the investment tickets. Decorations are being done by Ed Cuevas.

DALY CITY chapter 1541 of the American Association of Retired Persons, Inc., will meet Monday in the Westlake Community Center beginning at 10:30 a.m.

According to the publicity chairman, Servart Ojakian, the speaker for the day will be Vernon Brooke of the Daly City Fire Department. The social hour will be from 10:30 a.m. and the meeting will begin at noon.

Tickets will be sold for the AARP anniversary luncheon for $1.50. The anniversary party will be at the Westlake Community Center June 12. Bea Locke and Jean Cyr have the tickets.

THREE BAY AREA bell choirs will present a handbell concert in the social hall of Lakeside Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon at 3:30, according to James Groves.

The Campana Ringers of Lakeside Church, the bell choirs of First Presbyterian Church of Hayward and the First Presbyterian Church of Walnut Creek will participate in the concert. The three choirs are offering a preview of the numbers they will be performing at the American Guild of English Handbell Ringer Area XII Festival June 16, 17 and 18 in Fresno.

There will be no charge for the concert.

THE FINAL meeting of the school year for the Riordan High School Mothers' Guild will be May 9 at 8 p.m. in Chaminade Hall.

Brother John Haster, guild moderator, will celebrate Mass and install the new guild officers. Among those being installed will be Mrs. Joseph Dovich, president; Mrs. Richard Forslund, vice president; Mrs. Thomas Miller, second vice president; Mrs. Joseph Castle, recording secretary; Mrs. Albert Stenson, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Hegarty, auditor; and Mrs. Joseph Brady, Mrs. Gerald Murphy, Mrs. Ralph Cavillo and Mrs. Paul Drews, board of directors.

MEMBERS OF the San Francisco Alumnae chapter, Alpha Iota sorority, will meet next Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Ceden for their regular monthly meeting and to discuss final plans for the annual mother-daughter luncheon to be Saturday.

"SWAN LAKE," "Graduation Ball" and the "Wizard of Oz" will be included in the Spring Ballet Concert being planned by the Daly City Civic Ballet Company.

Diane Roberts, director of the company, will direct the performance at El Camino High School May 12 and 13.

Tickets may be obtained at the Dance Art Academy, 1 Washington St., Daly City.

CADETTE and Junior Girl Scouts will be twirling and dancing about the social hall at Hope Lutheran Church this afternoon as they work to obtain merit badges in dancing.

As if all that dancing isn't enough exercising, the girls have been invited to take part in a Sports Mini-Camp run like the Olympics, at Bothin Youth Center in Marin County next weekend. Girls wishing to join the fun may register with their troop leader. The fee for the three-day outing will be $16.

NEXT WEDNESDAY the Daly City Senior Citizens will have the opportunity to hear the pros and cons of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative.

Mrs. Louise Buttle, publicity chairman for the group, reports that the debate on the controversial tax bill will be the highlight of the gathering at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Vince's Hot Plates And Brisk Service

Many guests dining at VINCE'S Italian and Seafood restaurant like to sit at the long counter and watch the deft cooks at work preparing the orders. Perhaps you'd prefer one of the booths or a table, with the friendly crew of waitresses moving briskly about with good reason, for food and plates arrive hot....If you like to dine leisurely, then try L'AUBERGE French restaurant for lunch or dinner. Even the most hurried businessman is sure to relax in the tranquility of the French country inn atmosphere....With the RODEWAY INN'S "2 for 1" coupon appearing in today's "Bright Lights" you can order any one of the listed special entrees and receive a second dinner free. These introductory dinners are chosen from the regular menu....True, YOLANDA'S restaurant, located in the center of the San Francisco Produce Market, is hard to find. Drive past the Park and Fly parking area and ask the guard at the produce center gate to point out the way. Incidentally, the entry fee is for trucks only....Friends and family meet at SAL CAMPAGNA'S HOUSE OF TROY restaurant to enjoy the highest quality meats and fish prepared with culinary imagination....Spacious facilities for banquets, meetings, receptions, business and social functions are available at the HILLSDALE INN, San Mateo.

Pop Group Plays Dance Sets 5 Nites

The BAYHILL LOUNGE is considered home port by the TRI SOUNDS, the pop group which has been providing the Tuesday-through-Saturday night dance sets at this bustling San Bruno lounge for the past two years....The dining room and lounge at ENRICO ROMANO'S Italian and Seafood restaurant in Rockaway Beach is merry with cordial conversation. Hundreds of admirers of hearty Italian cuisine, seafood specialties, and pizza of many varieties are attracted to this well-established restaurant. Also food to go....LA PINATA Mexican restaurant in Burlingame is known for its numerous one-item dishes. With a choice of beef, chicken or cheese, the taco is a crisp tortilla filled with ground beef or chicken sauteed with tomatoes, herbs, shredded lettuce and mild taco sauce. Served with refried beans or Mexican rice, salad, and corn tortillas....All dinners at BEARDESELY'S, Burlingame, include soup or salad, baked potato and bread. Two fish specials, lamb chops, chicken, and five meat selections are among the dinner entrees....Budget-conscious families who appreciate fresh fish should head for the AIRPORT MARINA HOTEL Fri. night. A fabulous fish fry, featuring the "catch of the day," is available until 10 p.m. in the Fred Harvey Coffee Shop. This every-Friday attraction is only $1.99 for "all you can eat."

Half-Price Tickets To Musical Hit

Groups of up to 200 persons holding dinner banquets at the flower-filled LEHR'S GREENHOUSE Garden restaurant in San Francisco get a "bonus" — half-price tickets to the hit musical comedy revue, "Pastiche," in the adjoining Lehr's Cabaret....A new dining program started at PEABODY'S Sunday night. This popular Burlingame Plaza bistro will be offering a free buffet dinner every Sunday and Monday night from 11 p.m., plus live music from 9 p.m. featuring LIGHTHOUSE. No cover charge....A good bet for Sunday brunchers at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB on San Francisco's Geary Street Theater Row, is the delicious French Toast St. Tropez. It's special egg bread stuffed with cream cheese and orange marmalade, soused in eggs and cream and served with fresh fruit and Canadian bacon....Among the many artifacts on display in the foyer at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant are old medicine bottles that were found in the deserts of Tucson, Arizona. Also old Seltzer bottles which were used in the hotels of San Francisco many years ago....One of the specials frequently served at CAPTAIN CHARLES in Rockaway Beach is Devilish Crab au Gratin (crabmeat sauteed in rich cream sauce with white wine and herbs, and topped with Parmesan cheese).

Repeat Customers Enjoy New Dishes

One reason why so many Peninsula families dine two or three times a week at the KING'S TABLE, Redwood City, is that Owners NORMAN and FERN LARSON are always adding new dishes to the lavish buffet. It might be Baked Lasagne, Cracked Crab or Baked Short Ribs....The menu changes daily at the NEW SAN REMO in San Francisco's colorful North Beach district, so there is always something new and delicious to tempt your palate. Deep Fried Calamari, Baked Red Snapper, Veal Cutlet Milanese and Chicken Cacciatore are dinner entrees on Fridays. All are priced at $7.95 and include soup, salad, fresh pasta, dessert and beverage....Your appetite determines the tab at PHIL LEHR'S unique Pay-By-Gram Steakery, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower. Extra-choice steaks are cut to your exact order — any size — and weighed on a butcher's scale. The weight in grams (or ounces) determines the price of your dinner....You can almost eat your way around the clock at the VILLA HOTEL, as there is food service 24 hours of the day in the Villa Coffee House. The menu offers a great selection of breakfast, lunch and dinner items, and all kinds of between-meal snacks. And the portions are impressive. Dancing in the Villa Lounge seven nights a week.

Alternative Life For the Elderly

LINGERING OVER COFFEE

Mealtime is an opportunity to make new friends at Retirement Inns.

By TERRY DAVENPORT
Mildred Sutherland 85, was just nodding off to sleep one recent evening when a severe pain gripped her chest. She tugged at a cord over her bed and, within five minutes, police and paramedics were giving her oxygen and rushing her to the hospital.

Emergency pull cords are one of many convenient features of the Retirement Inn of Burlingame, where Mrs. Sutherland resides. The cord dangling near her bed probably saved her life. Thanks to it, she's planning to return home from the hospital soon. Had she lived with her son, a pilot who travels for extended periods, her fate might have been different.

Like seven other Retirement Inns in California, the Burlingame facility offers the conveniences of a first-class hotel plus well-balanced meals, daily social and educational activities and companionship.

The inns are not designed for people who need constant medical attention but some, including the Retirement Inn of Daly City, have licenses that permit them to dispense medications and help with personal hygiene.

Dale Grey, Retirement Inns manager, explained that there is nothing else like them in the United States. She and her husband started the inns in 1969 to give senior citizens an alternative between living at home, where they can't always manage alone, and nursing homes, which are designed for people who need medical care.

The Greys patterned Retirement Inns after the posh hotels in large cities where rich, elderly people would reside at the turn of the century. "There was nothing derogatory about doing that," she said.

The idea appears to be catching on again. The Daly City inn is running at 98 percent of capacity and the Burlingame inn, which opened last September, has 48 of its 75 rooms filled.

The Burlingame facility is the flagship of the Retirement Inns. Furnished with sleek, modern furniture and thick carpets, it offers extras such as individually locked mailboxes, thermostat control in every room, pool table, sewing machine and private dining room with fine china and crystal where guests can be entertained at no extra charge.

It costs $725 to $750 per month to live there, depending on the size of the unit. Every resident has a single room. However, couples and relatives may room together for an additional $200.

Mrs. Grey calls the Daly City inn, which opened three years ago, the "economy model" of the chain. At this less luxuriously furnished inn, prices start at $300 per month for a double room with a shared bath. A private room with separate bath costs $600 per month.

Other Retirement Inns are located in San Jose, Sunnyvale, Campbell, Fremont, Fullerton and Riverside. The Greys are planning to open additional facilities in the West.

Mrs. Grey said she tries to make the inns as much like home as possible. Residents have their own keys, so they can come and go at will. Friends can drop by without stopping first at the front desk.

Dale Grey
Career in retirement

Fresh fruit, juices, soft drinks and coffee are always ready in the dining area in case residents get hungry between meals. Breakfast, lunch and dinner are made to order for special diets. There is usually a choice of two entrees. Most pies, cakes and cookies are baked from scratch and all soups are homemade.

Not all inns have a fancy private dining room like the Retirement Inn of Burlingame, but all permit residents to invite guests to stay for dinner at no extra charge. If a bed is available, the visitors may stay overnight for free. "We know it's important to be able to reciprocate invitations," said Mrs. Grey.

It's obvious that Mrs. Grey has preserved the "mom and pop" atmosphere of the tiny boarding house she opened for seniors years ago. After having her fifth and last baby, she wanted to get into a business she could run at home, so she and her husband bought a house large enough for four boarders.

She got so much satisfaction from serving those four elderly people, that soon she and her husband bought and renovated a 10-bed nursing home that had gone out of business.

Mrs. Grey ran both operations for four years. When her husband retired from his job as a Marine Corps fighter pilot, she suggested that he join her in running the inns. His first reaction was "You've got to be kidding!" Now he's vice president of the investor-owned company that operates the eight inns.

Planners OK Monte Vista

After seemingly endless months of review, revision and discussion, the Daly City Planning Commission Tuesday night approved a 115-unit condominium project on a sloping site between Serravista Avenue and Interstate 280.

The Monte Vista development, which has been the target of considerable opposition from Serramonte residents, is expected to go before the City Council in late May.

The proposed project, to be developed by SKM Properties of Colma, would include $70,000 and $80,000 townhouses on individual lots on a 6.6-acre site.

The Planning Commission's vote was 3-1, with Commissioner Frank Karavos voting against the zone change, subdivision map and finding of completeness of the Environmental Impact Report.

"The welfare of the community will not be served with this project," Karavos said.

Approval of the project was conditional on the deletion of four units, as suggested by acting City Planner Thomas Miller.

Miller said the removal of four units from the plan submitted by the developer would "provide more view corridors and open space."

The project, which surfaced last summer, originally included 150 units but after many discussions between the developer, city staff and commission, was scaled down to 119 units.

Dick Price, a representative of SKM Properties, had argued for 119 units at a commission meeting a few weeks ago, but Tuesday said he was content to settle for 115.

"We'll adjust our thinking to 115 units," Price said. "It probably will improve the project."

The commission, which had requested comprehensive geological and noise studies to be added to the EIR report, read through the additional technical information Tuesday and said it was satisfied.

The geological report, filed by Berlogar, Long and Associates, a Palo Alto soil engineering firm, found "no major geologic hazards that would adversely affect the public interest should the project proceed."

Opposition to the development, which a few weeks ago included about 40 Serramonte residents at a public hearing, by Tuesday had dwindled to a handful of people. Three residents spoke against the project.

Mike Murray, a Serramonte area high school student, charged that Pacific Gas and Electric Co. had supplied "bad power with brownouts and blackouts" to the area. He questioned the utility's ability to handle an increased load there.

Commissioner Edward O'Donnell told the youth that PG&E has said it can provide power and that the commission has no reason not to believe its commitment.

O'Donnell also reacted sharply to the suggestion that the development, plus a 258-unit condominium project to be presented to the commission soon, will have an adverse impact on the area.

"It is totally inappropriate to discuss a project that is not before us," he said.

Resident Conrad Pavellas disagreed, saying that the commission should consider the "accumulated effect" of possible projects.

"You know what is coming down the road," he said. "Maybe it is time that Daly City has a little more high class housing."

SamTrans Buys 5 Redi-Wheels Buses

A "Bid B" to lease-purchase five lift-equipped buses for its Redi-Wheels program was approved by the San Mateo County Transit District Board of Directors, meeting Wednesday night in San Bruno City Hall.

The total cost would be $220,035 for the 20-passenger buses, intended to replace some former Pacifica municipal system minibuses now used to transport handicapped persons on a call-ahead basis.

Only one bid was received from the 35 dealers and leasing companies solicited, that from Holt Motors of Stockton. The cost under "Bid A" would have been $270,618 for a straight lease-purchase, but "Bid B" is under a special funding program offered by Bank of America at a simple interest rate of 5 1/2 percent over a 60-month period.

Delivery is expected in about 45 days, the board was told.

The board also approved bids for 70 prefabricated bus shelters, similar to four now in San Mateo, and for 30 precast concrete shelters.

Low bidders were Columbia Equipment Co. of New York for the 70 prefabs at $162,573.26, and Printex Concrete Co. of Mountain View, a minority firm, for the concrete shelters, at $164,775.

The bid totals were near the $144,000 the Urban Mass Transit Act grant allotted for the project.

A joint project to provide a shelter for passengers waiting for buses at the Daly City BART station was okayed, with BART as the lead agency in the $133,000 plan. BART would get most of the money through a Federal Aid Urban grant, but SamTrans would have to put up $22,000.

The agencies are to draw up an agreement to go ahead with the project during the next fiscal year.

In other business, the board:

- Heard General Manager John T. Mauro's report that SamTrans had its first million-passenger month in March, when 1,056,000 riders boarded, not including district-subsidized commute train passengers.

- Reaffirmed its policy to reassure the public that the district is continuing to oppose any cuts in Southern Pacific train commute service.

- Approved a $446,985 bid from Sheedy Drayage Co. of San Francisco for new bus washers.

SamTrans' Pacifica Routes Revamped

Spurred by complaints about lack of service or lack of direct service during commute hours, the San Mateo County Transit District has revamped some Pacifica routes and schedules effective May 1.

Five direct trips between the isolated Park Pacifica neighborhoods and the Daly City BART station will be offered during weekday rush hours, bringing the total to 25 trips a day from the Coastside to the BART station.

During weekday commute hours, routes 10T, via Terra Nova Boulevard, Aspen Drive and Linda Mar Boulevard, and 10L, from Park Pacifica via Linda Mar, will offer express service without layover at Linda Mar. The off-peak hour runs will continue to transfer at Linda Mar.

Route 10T will have two express trips, at 6:45 and 7:15 a.m. starting from Aspen and Terra Nova.

Route 10L will have three express trips, starting from Glacier Avenue and Cape Breton Drive, at 7:30 and 8 a.m.

In the afternoon the Route 10T return express will run at 4:25, 4:40, 5:05 and 5:35, with one express trip on 10L from the BART station at 5:20.

There will be no changes in the Saturday schedule of routes 10T and 10L.

Route 10T will offer 13 trips a day weekdays from Park Pacifica through the Palisades. Commuters closer to Highway 1 also can catch Coast routes 1L and 1C three times a day from Linda Mar or the 1H and 1A buses coming up from Half Moon Bay.

Other Coastside schedule changes effective May 1 will include:

Route 20J, Skyline College to Mission and Templeton streets in Daly City, will discontinue its 9:45 a.m. weekday run from Skyline to BART and add a 10:15 a.m. trip.

Route 10S, from Linda Mar to Serramonte, will begin weekday service from Linda Mar at 8:45 a.m. and end at 3:45 p.m. instead of 8:25 a.m. and 3:55 p.m., respectively. From Serramonte, service will begin at 9:23 a.m. and end at 4:30 p.m. instead of 9:05 a.m. and 4:35 p.m. The midday schedule also will be cut from half-hourly to hourly.

Route 30B, from Palmetto Avenue and West Manor Drive in Pacifica to Skyline College and Tanforan Shopping Center in San Bruno, will end east-bound service Saturdays at 5:45 p.m. instead of 6:15 p.m.

New timetables will be available on the buses at City Hall, Mode O'Day and Linda Mar Jewelers in Pacifica.

611—Bus. Opportunities

northAmerican Van Lines Needs You — — as a business partner in their growing fleet of owner-operators.

If you want something more than just a job, then North American wants you as a business partner.

In this partnership, you'll be an owner-operator with all the freedom of owning your own small business and the same time have all the advantages of big business behind you.

We'll give you the professional assistance to help make your business on wheels a success. Such as complete training (if you need it), and we'll offer you what we think is the best deal on a tractor in the trucking industry.

As in any partnership, it requires an initial investment of $2600 to $4300, which includes the down payment on a tractor and interim living expenses during training at North American.

To qualify, you must be 21 or over, in good physical condition, have a good driving record, and be able to meet the financial requirements.

If you qualify, we have an immediate need for owner-operators. So take the first step to being your own boss, with North American as a partner... by calling Toll Free: 800-348-2191
